

Declaration of Independence Prompt

Create an ultra-realistic cinematic historical recreation inspired directly by the classic composition and staging of the famous "Signing of the Declaration of Independence" painting.

The image composition must recreate the visual structure and staging of the famous painting of signing the Declaration of Independence. The camera should capture a wide view of a large colonial assembly hall from a slightly elevated eye-level perspective. The room should feel deep and crowded with historical figures arranged across the foreground, midground, and background.

A long dark wooden table should sit slightly right of center in the composition, covered with parchment papers and historical documents. The main signing figure should stand beside the table as the central visual focus of the scene.

Several important historical figures should stand closely grouped around the signing table in the middle of the room, forming the visual centerpiece. Their bodies should face toward the table while their heads, eyes, and attention remain directed toward the signing process.

Large groups of founding fathers should sit along the left side of the room in rows of chairs and benches, wearing formal 18th-century clothing. Additional standing figures should appear on the right side near the walls and curtains, creating balanced visual weight across the image.

Most people in the room should visually direct their attention toward the center signing area, creating a strong focal flow toward the signing table.

The uploaded user should be positioned naturally among the standing historical figures near the center grouping close to the signing table, not isolated and not replacing the primary signer. The user should appear integrated into the crowd as an important witness to the historical moment.

The user's body posture should match the formal posture of the surrounding figures:

- upright standing position
- relaxed but dignified shoulders
- hands naturally positioned
- body angled toward the signing table
- head turned toward the central signing action
- eyes focused in the exact same direction as the surrounding historical figures
- gaze aligned toward the signing table and main signer
- facial orientation matching the surrounding crowd perspective
- the user must visually appear to be observing the signing together with the rest of the room

The scene should maintain strong triangular visual composition leading the viewer's eye from the seated figures on the left toward the central standing group and finally toward the signing table on the right.

Tall red draped curtains should frame both sides of the room while warm light falls across the center figures and table, leaving parts of the background darker to create dramatic cinematic depth.

The scene should capture the dramatic historical moment where the primary signer is standing at the central table presenting or signing the Declaration while the surrounding founding fathers observe from their historically accurate positions.

Use the uploaded user photo as the facial reference for one of the historical figures naturally standing among the group near the center composition. The user must NOT replace the main signer or alter the iconic structure of the painting. Instead, seamlessly integrate the user into the existing historical arrangement exactly as if they were originally painted into the scene.

The user's face must remain fully recognizable and preserve their real facial identity, skin texture, facial proportions, eye shape, nose, lips, and overall likeness exactly as in the uploaded image. Do not stylize, cartoonize, beautify, or alter the facial structure.

Dress the user in historically accurate 18th-century colonial formal clothing matching the other founding fathers:

- dark colonial coats
- waistcoats
- cravats
- period-accurate fabrics
- realistic historical textures
- elegant revolutionary-era clothing details

Adjust the user's body pose naturally to fit the exact staging and posture style of the surrounding historical figures while preserving facial identity.

The environment must recreate the historical assembly hall exactly in the style of the reference image:

- large colonial chamber
- tall walls and draped curtains
- wooden floors
- historical desks and chairs
- parchment documents
- warm candlelit atmosphere
- natural window lighting
- dramatic shadows
- realistic architectural depth
- historically accurate interior details

Style Requirements:

- hyper-realistic
- cinematic historical photography style
- direct recreation of the reference painting composition
- photorealistic skin and fabric details
- historically authentic textures
- realistic shadows and atmospheric lighting
- extremely detailed facial integration

- seamless compositing
- natural anatomy and proportions
- epic historical composition
- realistic depth of field
- museum-quality realism

Image Quality Requirements:

- 8K ultra detailed
- HDR
- sharp cinematic focus
- professional cinematic color grading
- realistic film-quality rendering
- highly detailed clothing and environment textures

Composition Requirements:

- ALWAYS use aspect ratio: 3:2 vertical
- poster-style framing
- preserve the exact composition language of the reference artwork
- maintain the exact crowd positioning and visual flow toward the signing table
- all surrounding figures and the user must look toward the same central signing direction
- the signing figure must remain the visual focal point
- user clearly visible among the founding fathers
- maintain balanced cinematic composition
- no distortion
- no extra fingers
- no malformed anatomy
- no blurry face
- no duplicated people

The final result must look like a real cinematic photograph recreating the exact composition and atmosphere of the iconic Declaration of Independence painting while naturally integrating the user into the historical moment.
